SATELITE MAP

I got 13.4km but that included a lot of checking at the first 3 checks.

Check 1 in the abandoned buildings (maybe the currency printing factory, another failed project) about half km of checking. On wide open tracks to Check 2 near to the river, no bridges. To the right towards paper where we had been, must be left. More wide tracks, over a bridge to the last paper stuck on a tree. We then thought it was Check 3 a false trail back, false trail to the right, but the hares said this was to the check. As this was near houses, we thought paper had been picked up. Through the quarters on tarmac and to a main road. I thought we had been here before (we had and if I had followed my instincts after half a km we would have hit paper and not had to follow the big loop. We turned right on the tarmac and then to the entrance of Nigel Gardner estate.

Check 4 Followed this main drag for 3/4 km and a check on the opposite side of the road. further down the road we could see the paper on the track inside. We followed paper to do a loop. We knew we had to cross the road to get home, we were just following to see where the hares would go. A loop to Check 5 the direction was obvious but it was a matter of finding where the paper was. I found it 300m from the check. On more oil palm tracks to Check 6 a back check and more oil palm tracks to another guard house. Down to the road and just over half km to the runsite.
