xGPS says 12.4Km and 724m of climb

First check by the abandoned/demolished indon workers camp; right, easy.
Second check into the hill through the jungle path. I followed some Desa Park city paper which I though eventually would lead to a ridge path. Was very close but not close enough to paper.

Came back down to look in the oil palm and then Ah Man called and paper on another trail very close to where I was. So climbed the hill twice.

Third check after the watchtower, Bukit Sapu Tangan, further down the hill. I checked further down. But paper to left.by new Station A. More climb to back track Fourth check by Look Out point. Chris Tan came back and we checked down hill, until a call forward was heard. As it happened paper was just another 100m down the hill. So more climb to backtrack.

Run would have been better if the last 3km loop had been cut out
Lum Sui's run attached and a composite of other runs in the area.
